Feel Beautiful Today, Part of the 2013 Celebration of Living
With

Winship Cancer Institute and Saint Joseph's Cancer Survivors' Network

ALPHARETTA, GA (June 6, 2013). Feel Beautiful Today, a 501(c)(3), was formed in 2010 with the sole purpose of providing hope, love and encouragement to women and girls affected by cancer through two programs, "Workshops for Patients" and "Boxes of Love." Many hands work together to fulfill this mission. From its humble beginnings, FBT has grown to benefit more than 1700 women and girls affected by cancer in both the receiving and giving of unique pieces of beautiful jewelry.

This circle of hope begins with volunteers from the community who wish to become involved in bringing light into the lives of women affected by cancer, flows into those women who receive

Boxes of Love, and is completed through patients and survivors who desire to give back by creating pieces for others. Feel Beautiful Today once more is proud to partner with Winship

Cancer Institute of Emory University and Saint Joseph's Cancer Survivors' Network in their event "2013 Celebration of Living" at the Fellowship Hall at Peachtree Presbyterian Church in Atlanta, on June 22nd from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. The event is free but pre-registration is encouraged, at winshipcancer.emory.edu. All cancer survivors are welcome. FBT will be offering a Patient Workshop for 50 women and girls affected by cancer.

The FBT foundation is absolutely committed to answer the call to keep expanding our programs as we provide hope, love, and encouragement directly to women of all ages, races, and creeds. We work with the caring community and our beneficiaries-in-kind to increase our programs and expand our ability to support a total soul and body in balance concept toward treatment and healing promoted by the hospitals and cancer centers that we serve.
